

This is the translation of a 4 page German Veterinarian Document available in original at the German Website

<http://www.buergerwelle.artishock.de/>

click on Schnaitsee/Traunstein pictures of the farm and the transmission tower can be seen here

It is the official interim report of a Bavarian Government's Veterinarian filed at the local Administration Office. ( to be legally relevant) Traunstein is in Bavaria, Germany, known as a tourist center of the Bavarian Alps.

Schnaitsee is a rural community in that jurisdiction. remarks in {italics} are for clarification of the translation original text is in [brackets]

Landratsamt Traunstein
-Veterinarsamt-2531.7
Dr. Schm/RL
April 16th. 1997

Report-File

Animal Protection Act; Cattle-operation Altenweger, Oberhof 4, Schnaitsee

Conclusive interim report:

Because of grave problems with his cattle operation Mr Altenweger, at Oberhof 4, Schnaitsee asked for an inspection of his dairy herd and in case of findings for help. The circumstances that caused Mr Altenweger to call the Veterinarian Office has been described by Mr Altenweger as follows:

Since Fall 1995 Mr Altenweger has problems with his dairy herd that caused him severe economic losses. Mr Altenweger also observed since spring 1996 behavioural changes in his animals for which he could find no other explanation - except a possibly harmful influence from the nearby transmitter station.

1.) The following problems occurred in his herd:

2.) The following abnormal behaviour was observed by Mr. Altenweger:

3.) Findings by the Veterinary Department Office [Landratsamt - Abt. Veterinaerwesen]

4.) Conducted reserach :

5.) Baesed on the above listed investigations the following has being implemented:

6. Conclusion;

---

posted 06/11/1998
translation by Wolfgang W. Scherer

